- How-to information for congregational archivists
- UUHS Republication Project, bringing crucial texts such as Charles Lyttle's Freedom Moves West and Roland Bainton's Hunted Heretic back into print.
- Networking with the Unitarian Universalist Women's Heritage Society, the Universalist Heritage Foundation, and the Unitarian Universalist Religious Education History Group.

Benefits of Membership

We welcome as members all who are interested in the history of liberal religion. Members receive the Newsletter, the Journal, and invitations to our lectures and meetings. The Journal has significantly contributed to the scholarship of liberal religion with its translation and publishing of George Huntston Williams' The Polish Brethren (1976) and Conrad Wright's Bibliography of Unitarian Universalist History (2001). Members become partners in supporting lectures, research, and our rapidly increasing presence on the Web, and are entitled to vote at the annual meeting.

Important projects sponsored by the UUHS:

Conrad Wright: Walking Together: Polity and Participation in Unitarian Universalist Churches (published in 1989).

Russell Miller: The Larger Hope (two volume history of American Universalism published in 1979 and 1985).

Catherine F. Hitchings: Universalist and Unitarian Women Ministers (published in 1975 and 1985).

Annual workshops and lectures at General Assembly on topics such as "Creating Congregational Histories," "Hosea Ballou's Treatise at 200," "Thomas Starr King's Writings on Nature," and "Self and Society in American Transcendentalism" (Dr. Philip Gura, 2008).

Sponsored lectures such as Dean Grodzins (on Theodore Parker), Megan Marshall (on Elizabeth Palmer Peabody), and Charles Capper (on Margaret Fuller).

Newly created Youth History Prize to be awarded in 2009.
